

CSI TO HOLD REMUNERATION TRAINING SEMINAR

Tuesday 15th April 2003: Further consolidating their place as Australia's remuneration specialists, CSI has developed a new training seminar, covering the fundamentals of remuneration theory and practice, to be held in May.

The seminar, aptly named REM101, will address several topics, including: the role of remuneration in corporate strategy; methods for analysing and valuing jobs; managing the reward process; and the practical application of remuneration concepts.

Aimed at HR generalists wanting to extend their knowledge of remuneration and junior to mid-level staff requiring a comprehensive introduction to this important part of the HR function, the one-day seminar will be held at North Sydney Harbourview Hotel on Wednesday 28th May 2003.

For more information, please contact CSI Customer Training Manager Kylee Small on (02) 9415 3455 or email ksmall@classalinfo.com.au.

ENDS

Note: CSI are Australia's remuneration specialists. We conduct 20 industry-specific salary surveys in Australia and New Zealand and provide remuneration consulting services ranging from executive compensation advice to remuneration technology services.

For further information please contact:

Ms Kylee Small

Customer Training Manager on (02) 9415 3455

or visit CSI News at www.classalinfo.com.au

*Kylee Small celebrating the launch of CSI's Customer Training
Division on 3 March 2003.*